

My people, today is a new day, a day of beginnings, a day of hope, a day of certainty. At the start of this new year, my people, I want you to look to me again, look to me afresh, stir up your expectations, be confident that I will answer your prayers. For I will answer. I want you to get my vision for the year ahead. The enemy would paint a picture of difficulty and of pain and of failure and of lack. That is a picture that many in this world are seeing right now. But that is not your picture. You are not of the world, you are in my kingdom and you are not alone in the world for I am by your side with all my wisdom, with all my resources. I will take care of you. Look at the birds, even today in Durham my word still holds true, the birds are still fed and cared for by me and yet they make no provision. Even in the coldest of winters I feed them, I care for them. How much more will I care for you, you who are worth many sparrows?

You are my children and I have taken the time to count every hair of your head. I know your needs before you ask me, I know your hopes and your fears, your strengths and your weaknesses, I know that hurt and that fear that sap you. I know that doubt that troubles your mind. I know, my child, I know. Yet there are so many things that you do not know: the plans I have for you, the answer to your fears, the provision you need, the healing for your body. It is all available to you if you will come to me like little children and trust me for it. It is available to you this year. Things getting better instead of worse, peace instead of stress, plenty instead of lack, strength where you have only seen weakness. Things can turn around, it does not matter how long they have been there, they can change, change for the better. Nothing is impossible for me, get the vision because if you can see it then it can happen for you.

This is the year of my salvation, this is the year of jubilee, now is the accepted time, now is the time for things to start changing for you. I have said it, I have declared it, but will you believe me? It is time, my children, for things to stop getting worse and to start to get better. It is time for you to shine with my light, my provision, my health, my peace. For then others will want what you have, they will want to come and be in your light and as they do they will meet me through you. But most of all you will know that I love you, that I will take care of you, that there is no need for you to fear and you will come close and we will have fellowship and I will change you. I will transform you into the person you always wanted to be, transform you from the inside out, not by your effort but by my Spirit. This is the picture I want you to have of this year, for greater is he that is in you than he that is in the world. If you doubt read and ask me to tell you about the heroes of old who faced impossible circumstances and yet prevailed because of my Holy Spirit, the same Holy Spirit who lives inside of you.

Get a vision, my people, of who you are, of what is available to you, of my will for you and things will start to change for the better. What do you see for this coming year? Do you see things getting better or worse, do you see provision or lack, health or sickness, peace or stress? Do you see yourself with me or at a distance on your own? What do you see my people, what do you see?
